

Culinary Market Tour & Cooking in a Traditional Turkish Kitchen

You will start this tour by taking a traditional ferry to pass across to the Asian side of Istanbul. This is a wonderful way to experience the uniqueness of crossing continents in a short and timeless ferry ride. Here, with your guide you'll reach to Kadikoy, very old district of Istanbul which is purely local with its market, bohemian and vibrant style. Along with the serene waterfront and stunning sea views, Kadikoy has the buoyant and unique ambience of markets, mouth-watering culinary options, and independent shops. You will visit the local market of Kadikoy to learn about the different products and buy the ingredients ready to cook at home. Your next stop is a house of a local in Kuzguncuk which is located in Uskudar district where the streets are lined with antique wooden houses and the gentrifying enclave is dotted with galleries and workshops of artists, architects and craftspeople. You will begin cooking some traditional Turkish dishes with your host and will surely enjoy this culinary workshop. By the end of the cooking session, you may visit some local art galleries and boutiques around the district.
