UGA RIVA

Riva, a distinguished villa in close proximity to Negombo, is a meticulously restored 180-year-old traditional manor house nestled within a lush five-acre coconut estate. It extends a warm invitation to embrace a laid-back lifestyle, whether you're a recent arrival to our island or simply seeking a tranquil retreat.

This seven bedroom heritage house, boasts and embraces the classic architectural design with a central courtyard encircling a serene pond. Spacious open verandahs provide ample room and seclusion to relish the gentle island breezes and the diverse array of indigenous flora and fauna that frequent our villa. The cozy interiors of the manor house showcase antique surfaces adorned with intricate paintings by Sri Lankan artists, enhancing the property's rustic allure.

Originally the residence of six generations of a prominent Colombo Chetty family, our walauwwa has also welcomed numerous distinguished guests over the years, including Mahatma Gandhi, Prime Minister D.S. Senanayaka, President J.R. Jayawardena, President R. Premadasa, and many other notable figures.

LOCATION

Situated inland, a mere 30-minute drive from Colombo International Airport and only 10 minutes away from Negombo's central town, Riva serves as the perfect launching point for commencing or concluding your Sri Lankan journey. Whether you find yourself recovering from your island explorations or adjusting to jetlag, you can relax in the serene ambiance of our 5-acre coconut plantation. Take a leisurely break by the pool before retiring to the luxurious comfort of our well-appointed rooms.
