NAXOS ISLAND

Naxos is a picturesque Greek island in the Aegean Sea, part of the Cyclades archipelago, located approximately 180 kilometers (112 miles) southeast of Athens.

Well-connected to Athens by both ferry and flight, providing a faster but less scenic alternative.

Why Naxos?

- Natural Beauty: Naxos offers a diverse landscape with lush valleys, rugged mountains, sandy beaches, hidden coves, and crystal-clear waters, perfect for nature lovers and outdoor enthusiasts.
- Rich History and Culture: The island is steeped in history, with ancient temples, Venetian castles, and traditional Cycladic villages that provide a glimpse into both ancient and medieval Greek culture.
- Authentic Greek Experience: Naxos retains a more authentic, less touristy atmosphere compared to some other Greek islands, offering travelers a chance to experience traditional Greek island life, with charming villages, local food, and warm hospitality.
- Beaches and Adventure: Whether you prefer relaxing on serene beaches or engaging in watersports like windsurfing and kite-surfing, Naxos has something for everyone.
- Delicious Local Cuisine: Naxos is famous for its local products, including cheese (like the famous "Naxian graviera"), olives, and fresh seafood, providing a culinary experience unique to the island.
- Accessibility: It's easily accessible from Athens, with regular ferries and flights, making it a convenient yet enriching destination for travelers looking for a mix of history, culture, and natural beauty. Also offers easy access by car to get around the island and explore the local beaches and villages.

- From/to Athens: 4-6 hours by ferry from Piraeus port or 40 min by airplane from Athens Airport
- From/to Paros: Naxos is just about 30 minutes to 1 hour by ferry from/to Paros, making it a quick and easy trip between the two islands.
- From/to Mykonos: The ferry ride from/to Mykonos takes approximately 1 to 1.5 hours, allowing visitors to enjoy both islands in a short amount of time.
- From/to Santorini: Ferries from/to Santorini typically take around 2 to 2.5 hours, offering a comfortable and scenic journey to the iconic island.

EXPLORING THE ISLAND: GETTING AROUND FROM LAGUNA COAST RESORT

Naxos is an idyllic destination for those seeking a blend of natural beauty, with its lush landscapes, pristine beaches, and traditional villages, along with a rich connection to Greek history and culture.

The hotel is located in Stelida which offers a fantastic location for exploring Naxos, providing easy access to the island's main attractions while remaining in a peaceful and serene setting.

Whether you're enjoying the local beaches, hiking the nearby hills, or visiting ancient ruins, Stelida offers a perfect balance of relaxation and convenience for travelers.

Laguna Coast Resort

 To Naxos Town (Chora): The hotel is about 4 kilometers (2.5 miles) from Naxos Town, which is around a 10- to 15-minute drive.

 To Naxos Port: The port is also about 4 kilometers (2.5 miles) from the hotel, taking around 10 minutes by car or taxi. Ferries from here connect Naxos to other islands like Mykonos, Paros, and Santorini.

 To Naxos Airport: The hotel is situated just 2 kilometers (1.25 miles) from Naxos Airport, which is a quick 5-minute drive.

Laguna Coast

Laguna Coast is the largest regeneration project in the Cyclades, combining stunning natural beauty with rich history.

Spanning 480 acres of wetlands and featuring the private Manto Island, it boasts a remarkable 1.2 km coastline, a lake home to flamingos, and a famous cedar forest.

Located just southwest of Naxos Town, Stelida Hill is an important archaeological site, with evidence of human activity dating from 13,000 to 200,000 years ago, making it one of the oldest known settlements in the Central Aegean.

Laguna Coast is a unique destination, offering both ecological wonders and historical depth.
